1st Phonathon A Huge Success

The first national alumni phonathon attempted at the Illinois College of Optometry has been hailed a "resounding success" by Director of Institutional Advancement John Mecklenburg.

"I just can't say enough about the efforts of the ICO students and the response by the ICO Alumni body," Mecklenburg said of the late-October, two-week calling program.

"This Phonathon has far exceeded any similar program that I have been associated with at any other school," he continued.

During the last two weeks of October, student callers personally talked to 3,347 alumni across the country. From those phone calls, the College received 523 pledges, totaling more than $41,000. In addition, 1035 alumni indicated that they would "consider" a gift, if sent additional materials. A total of 1,789 alumni declined to pledge or consider a gift.

Calls were generally placed only to alumni who had not given to the College during the previous year. As a result, virtually all of the monies received through the Phonathon will be matched by the McCormick Trust Alumni Giving Challenge.

ICO Alumni closely paralleled national averages for response to the Phonathon approach, despite the fact that individuals who had not given recently were the target group for the calls. Most college phonathons garner approximately twenty percent pledges, thirty percent "will considers" and fifty percent declines and include current donors in their calling pool. ICO received sixteen percent pledges, thirty-one percent "will considers" and fifty-three percent declines.

However, national per-pledge averages hover at the $25 to $33 level. ICO Alumni blew away the national statistics with a whopping $95 per pledge average.

As of early January, more than 72 percent of the pledged gifts have been received by the College. Pledge gifts continue to arrive in the Alumni Office every day.

Student response to the Phonathon was also tremendous, according to Mecklenburg.

"We were a little worried about how graduate-level students would handle the Phonathon process," he said. "That should have been our last worry. Our students taught me new techniques in telephone work. They are the most tremendous students in the world."

Student organizations are receiving twenty percent of all gift money which is received from Phonathon pledges and "will consider" gifts. The first round of checks to student organizations was distributed in early December. As the additional 28 percent of the pledges are received, student organizations will receive their remaining funds.

Rachelle Collins, 3rd Year Student and President of the National Optometric Student Association, makes a friendly call to an alumni during the first annual ICO Phonathon October 17-27, 1988.

Reunion '88

Friday, October 7, 1988, was the first day of activities for the Illinois College of Optometry's Reunion '88, which continued through Saturday, October 8, and Sunday, October 9. Continuing education courses for the weekend began that Friday morning and were continued on Sunday, October 9. The Friday seminar offered 5 hours of CE. The course, "Rigid Oxygen Permeable Contact Lenses/Clinical Presentation," was presented by the ICO faculty: Janice Jurkus, O.D.; Gary Gunderson, O.D.; Neil Hodur, O.D.; and Bob Grohe, O.D. The five-hour Sunday "hands-on workshop" was taught by: Janice Jurkus, O.D., Gary Gunderson, O.D., Jerold Silverman, O.D.,

Thomas Cedarstaff, O.D., and Neil Hodur, O.D. The topic covered was, "Clinical Applications of Contact Lenses/Hands on Techniques." Doctors attending picked up 10 hours of their required CE hours needed for re-certification.

Friday morning was also the first day of the ICO Equipment Fair held in the Exhibition Center on the College's campus. Over twenty companies set-up shop to introduce new ideas and equipment to ICO alumni, students and friends on Friday and also on Saturday, October 8.

That Friday evening, a different twist was added to Reunion this year. Alumni of the various Anniversary classes: 1938—50 years; 1943—45 years; 1948—40 years; 1953—35 years; 1958—30 years; 1963—25 years; 1968—20 years; 1973—15 years; 1978—10 years; 1983—5 years, could choose to have a private dinner with their classmates at restaurants around the city. The Class of '63 celebrated their 25th Reunion with a dinner at Ed Debevic's, a 1950's style "diner" complete with greasy fries, meatloaf and mashed potatoes, chocolate malts, and a jukebox that played nothing but the "oldies but goodies". The Class of '38 held a reception in the Adam's Room at the ICO Board of Trustees and invited guests attend a V.I.P. reception during Reunion '88.

Beth Wilkin, Office of Institutional Advancement, presents the winning trip tickets from the Reunion '88 raffle, to Solo Montayna, 3rd Year Student. Solo was the winner of a contest provided by Casa De Oro Travel, Spring Valley, California. Casa De Oro not only provided a booth at the Reunion '88 equipment fair, but is the official sponsor of "Sightseers", the ICO travel club.

Features Class Dinners

Chicago Hyatt Regency, the host hotel for Reunion, and the Class of '48 and '58 went for Prime Rib of Beef at the Glass Dome Hickory Pit. Those who graduated in 1978 decided on a night of medieval mayhem as they pretended they were Robin Hood and Lady Marion at the King's Manor which featured King Arthur-style entertainment.

After the dinners, alumni were then free to attend the Student/Alumni Reception held on the courtyard under a tent filled with balloons. The evening was a chance for alumni and future optometrists to exchange ideas and begin new friendships.

Saturday afternoon alumni attended the second annual international-cuisine picnic on the courtyard. Called the "mini-Taste of Chicago," the courtyard was turned into a sampling fest of the many diverse culinary treats found in the city of neighborhoods. Alumni and guests could choose to sample Italian, Greek, Kosher or Mexican cuisine.

Saturday night was the formal dinner banquet held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hyatt Regency. The classes celebrating their anniversary graduating years were honored and a photographer was on hand to take those precious pictures of old friends together once again.

The ICO Alumnus of the Year award was given to President Boyd B. Banwell, O.D., (NICO '54) at the banquet. Dr. Banwell was nominated and elected by his peers for his hard work and his lifelong dedication to optometry.

Reunion '88 was a huge success. If all this sounds like fun, now is not too early to begin planning for next year's Reunion '89. Mark your calendars now for October 13, 14 and 15, 1989. Next year's Anniversary Reunion Classes are: 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959, 1964, 1969, 1974, 1979 and 1984. Hope to see you there!

Ms. Sandy Krizan and Ms. Billie Lundy of Casa De Oro Travel, have a discussion with ICO students during the 1988 Equipment Fair, Reunion Weekend, October 7-9, 1988.

Class of '48 graduates Seymour Konopken, O.D. and Walter Yasko, O.D., take a moment to pose during Reunion '88.

Newton Wesley Pens History of Contact Lenses

Contacts—One Hundred Years Plus, a book written by Dr. Newton K. Wesley, is the story of his experience with blindness and his pioneer work in the eye care field, particularly contact lenses. "His many experiences make interesting reading," states Dr. Wesley's son, Dr. Roy Wesley, "and was written in response to many media personalities who often suggested that Dr. Newton K.

Wesley's story be written, since they found the many facets of his background so interesting."

All proceeds from the sale of the book will be donated to the National Eye Research Foundation. The book can be ordered through the National Eye Research Foundation for $13.95 per copy, plus $1.50 postage and handling.

Dr. Schoen Named Illinois "Optometrist of Year"

Charles Schoen, O.D., (Monroe, '49) of Belvidere, IL, has been named Optometrist of the Year by the Illinois Optometric Association.

"Dr. Schoen has unselfishly donated his time and skills over the past 25 years to examine destitute children," said Dr. Floyd Woods, President of the Illinois Optometric Association. "He is most deserving of his high honor." Dr. Schoen, working with the Belvidere Lion's Club, does not charge for his services to the needy children of the Belvidere area. Nurses of the schools in District #100 screen the children on the basis of need and then refer them to Dr. Schoen.

Dr. Schoen is a past president of the Belvidere Lion's Club and is currently a member of the Belvidere Chamber of Commerce. "Dr. Schoen has traditionally been generous with his time," said Dr. Woods.

The Belvidere optometrist has been a member of the Illinois Optometric Association for 31 years. "He has been one of the most loyal members of our local society," said Dr. Dale L. Kaney, President of the Northern Illinois Society of the IOA.

Dr. Schoen was awarded the Optometrist of the Year honor at the Illinois Optometric Association's annual convention December 1-4 in Chicago. The Illinois Optometric Association is a voluntary association representing more than 800 Doctors of Optometry throughout the state. Doctors of Optometry, or optometrists, are health care professionals specializing in the examination, diagnosis and treatment of vision conditions or impairments.

Congress & Convention Update

ICO representatives will be in attendance at numerous Optometric Conferences during the winter months of 1988 - 1989.

The Illinois Optometric Association's Annual Convention was held in Chicago, from December 1, 1988 to December 4, 1988. ICO staff and students represented the College in the exhibit area of the convention. Faculty representatives were involved in panel discussions. An ICO/IOA Awards reception was held on December 2, 1988. The event was attended by Illinois Optometrists, ICO Staff, and featured Dr. Banwell as the keynote speaker.

December 8-11, 1988 held the American Academy of Optometry's Annual meeting in Columbus, Ohio. Numerous ICO faculty members participated in this year's seminars and exhibits. On December 10, 1988 a President's reception hosted approximately 200 guests.

January 26-29, 1989 saw this year's North Central States Optometric Conference in Minneapolis, Minnesota. This event was again held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. ICO's guest faculty representative at the exhibit area was Dr. Walter Yasko. The President's reception was held on Friday, January 27, 1989 from 6-8:30 PM. For the first time, the reception was held in the Nisolle Ballroom, due to the increasing numbers of guests expected to attend. The Annual Alumni Luncheon was canceled this year. As in years past, a bus load of ICO students attended the conference and worked as monitors for the continuing education programs.

February 10-12, 1989 will be the dates for the 28th Annual Contact Lens and Primary Care Congress, sponsored by the Heart of America Contact Lens Society. The event will be held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri. ICO is tentatively planning a reception, the date and time to be announced at a later date.

February 15-19, 1989 are the dates set for this year's 66th Annual Southern Educational Congress of Optometry, to be held in Atlanta, Georgia. ICO will be represented not only in the exhibit area, but will host a President's Reception on Friday, February 17, 1989 from 6-8 PM. The reception will carry the Chicago theme from Illinois to Georgia, in the form of a speakeasy motif.

This winter will prove to be a busy and productive season for Optometric Conferences and seminars. Watch for details of these events in future issues of the Image.

1987-88 Honor Roll Of Donors

The Illinois College of Optometry is pleased to recognize those individuals, corporations, and foundations which have so generously supported the institution during the 1988 fiscal year.

Following is a listing of those donors to the College who made gifts between the dates of July 1, 1987 and June 30, 1988. Gifts received on July 1, 1988 or later will be included in the 1989 President's Annual Report.

The donor listings have been divided into the following categories: alumni (by year of graduation); nonalumni friends; corporations and foundations. Alumni class listings also include the percentage of living class members who contributed to the College during the 1988 fiscal year.

Within each class year, donors are listed by level of total giving for the year. President's Inner Circle members include those individuals or couples who have given a total of $1,000 during the fiscal year. Century Club level contributors have given at least $100 during the fiscal year. Member level contributors have given at least $50 during the fiscal year. Contributor level donors have given under $50 during the fiscal year.

The Illinois College of Optometry Office of Institutional Advancement has made every effort to carefully compile this list of donors from the available information at the College. In the event that your name has been omitted from this list, please contact us immediately at (312) 225-1700, Ext. 610.

Meeting of the ICO President's Inner Circle

Immediately prior to the President's Reception on Tuesday, June 27, a meeting for the President's Inner Circle members will be held. The meeting will take place in the Trianon Ballroom at the New York Hilton at 5:00 PM.

Dr. Boyd B. Banwell will review with the PIC members, the statistics on the incoming first-year class and the projections for enrollment expectancies for the year 2000. He will also further discuss decisions affecting the termination of all development activities of the Florida campus.

An Open Letter From the Chairman of the Board

Dear Alumni and Friends:

Three years ago at the annual meeting of the Association of Schools and Colleges of Optometry (ASCO) held in conjunction with the AOA Congress in Las Vegas, it was announced that upon the authorization of its Board of Trustees the Illinois College of Optometry administration was planning to research the feasibility of establishing an optometry school in the State of Florida. The basis for the Board's decision to go ahead with the project included: the recommendation of the AOA Academic Facilities Committee and ASCO that a school of optometry be established in the State of Florida, a U.S. Government report regarding the manpower need for optometrists by the Year 2000, and the fact that the Florida Optometric Association had been working for a number of years to establish a school through the legislative process. These considerations along with the mission statement of the ICO Board of Trustees which in part states that as a leader in the profession of optometry it is the responsibility of ICO's administration to assist in the establishment of an optometry school in Florida.

The years following the above announcement have been filled with exhaustive efforts by the entire ICO family to successfully reach the Florida goal, carefully avoiding any possible detrimental effect that the project would have upon the Chicago campus.

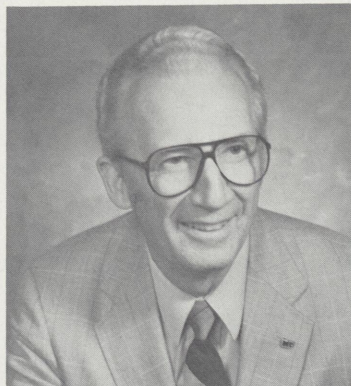

Very rewarding progress was accomplished until approximately six months ago. At that time the project's viability was seriously impacted by a host of totally unforeseen circumstances. The serious negative climate which was created forced the Board of Trustees and the administration to re-address the entire Florida concept. Following sensitive deliberation it was determined that the project should be terminated.

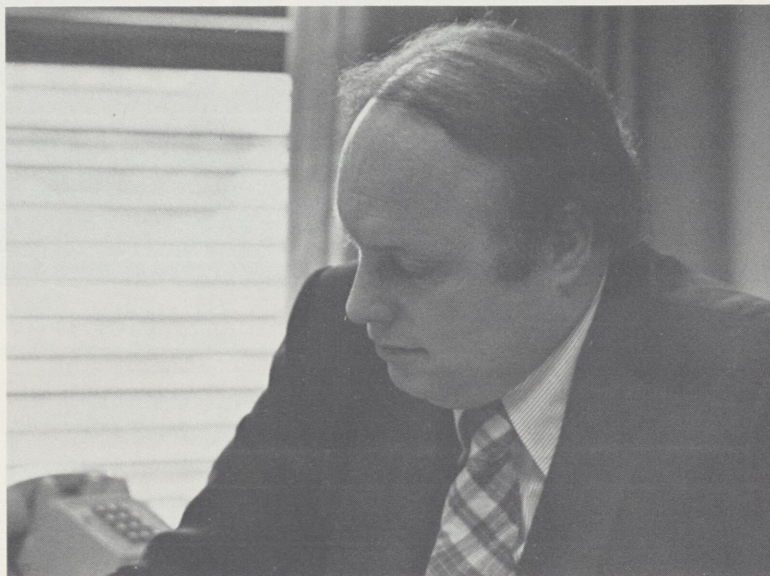

Though the decision to terminate was indeed disappointing, it was in no way an indication of failure. It simply resulted from circumstances beyond our control. We are confident that many positive elements resulted from this complicated endeavor. It focused the awareness of the entire optometric community upon the issue of new academic facilities. It was the catalyst through which osteopathy began its campaign to establish a division of optometry at the Southeastern College of Osteopathic Medicine in North Dade County. Thus, Florida has gotten a school of optometry although the effect of osteopathic influence upon the future of the optometric profession remains to be assessed.

Our efforts will now return toward the continued mission of making ICO the premier optometric institution. We are dedicated to this mission, and we shall succeed.

Dr. W. Judd Chapman NICO '49
Chairman, Board of Trustees

Shane J. Conway

Executive Vice President/Chief Operating Officer, will be honored with the Doctor of Humane Letters degree during the Commencement ceremony.

Shane J. Conway joined the staff of the Illinois College of Optometry in 1980. As Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer at ICO, Mr. Conway is responsible for the management of all financial and business operations.

Mr. Conway received his Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration in 1968 from the Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Illinois (NIU). In 1975 he received his Masters of Science degree in Education, also from NIU.

Mr. Conway is professionally associated with many organizations including the Rotary International Organization, the Association of School Business Officials and the National Association of College and University Business Officers.

David A. Greenberg, O.D., M.P.H.

Vice President for Academic Affairs/Dean, will be receiving the Doctor of Occular Science (D.O.S.) degree on Sunday.

David A. Greenberg, O.D., M.P.H., currently holds the position of Vice President for Academic Affairs/Dean at the Illinois College of Optometry. Dr. Greenberg is responsible for all the College's academic programs and patient care activities. He is also a Professor of Optometry at the College.

Prior to assuming the position of Dean at the College, Dr. Greenberg was the Executive Director of Institutional Planning to the Office of President, ICO. He was also an Associate Professor at both the Southern California College of Optometry in Fullerton, California and at the New England College of Optometry in Boston, Massachusetts.

Dr. Greenberg received his Doctor of Optometry degree in 1974 at the New England College of Optometry as a member of a three-year accelerated program. In 1980, he received a master's degree in public health from the Harvard School of Public Health. He graduated from Syracuse University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1969.

Dr. Greenberg is a Fellow of the American Academy of Optometry and a member of the American Optometric Association, the American Public Health Association and the Illinois Optometric Association. He is licensed to practice

Optometry in the states of Massachusetts, Florida, New York, California and Illinois.

The Class of 1988 recites the Oath of Optometry during the 145th Convocation of the Illinois College of Optometry.

On Sunday, May 21, 1989, the Class of 1989 will be following in their footsteps.

It's that time of year at ICO again!

Commencement must once again be nearing at the Illinois College of Optometry. The members of the ICO Class of 1989 are not only planning their spring banquet but are also busy discussing upcoming interviews and talking about where they would like to practice.

Promises are being made between friends and classmates to keep in touch after graduation through visits, telephone calls and written correspondence. Most will be kept, some will not, but all are made with tender sincerity.

Yes, the 146th Convocation of the Illinois College of Optometry is approaching. It seems to all come so fast, this time of year. The students who have worked so hard for the past four years can hardly believe they will not be returning next fall to the halls of ICO. The faculty and staff who have come to know them also find it hard to believe that they will no longer see these students, or friends, they have seen almost every day since the Fall of 1984.

On Sunday, May 21, 1989, at 2:30 p.m., the commencement ceremony for the Illinois College of Optometry Class of 1989 will begin. Held once again in stately Rockefeller Chapel on the University of Chicago campus, ICO President Boyd B. Banwell will confer the Doctor of Optometry degree to the 146th class of ICO graduates.

Speaking to the graduates will be the Honorable James R. Thompson, 39th Governor of the State of Illinois. It will be quite an honor as Thompson will be returning to speak to an ICO graduating class for the second time. The Governor was first asked to speak to the ICO Class of 1980, at which time he also received the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

The Governor was more recently on the college's campus during the June 1988 ceremony of the Illinois Eye Institute Clinic Dedication for which he delivered the keynote address.

Thompson has been an important figure to optometry since signing the 1984 bill allowing Illinois optometrists to use Diagnostic Pharmaceutical Agents.

During his term of office, he has also signed into law the mandatory 24 hours of continuing education every two years for the relicensure of all Illinois OD's.

During the commencement ceremony, two of ICO's officers will be receiving the distinguished recognitions of the Doctor of Humane Letters degree and the Doctor of Ocular Science degree. Dr. David A. Greenberg, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean, is receiving the Doctor of Ocular Science (D.O.S.) degree. Shane J. Conway, Executive Vice President and the Chief Operating Officer, will be honored with the Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

Immediately following this year's Convocation, a reception will be held at Chicago's South Shore Cultural Center, formerly the South Shore Country Club, on the South Shore Drive.

Students who will receive special honors and who will be awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Visual Science, will be honored the previous day during the annual B.S.V.S. Convocation and Spring Honors Presentation on Saturday, May 20, 1989 at 2:30 p.m. in the ICO Lecture Center.

This day also acknowledges all ICO students, not just the graduates, who have excelled through their academic and clinical skills as well as through their leadership and service abilities to the Illinois College of Optometry.

Following the Spring Honors presentation an honorees reception is planned on the main level of the Carl F. Shepherd Memorial Library. Members of the Gold Key Honor Society will serve refreshments to the honorees and their invited families and guests.

The Honorable James R. Thompson, 39th Governor of the State of Illinois, has been invited to speak at the 146th Convocation of the Illinois College of Optometry, on Sunday, May 21, 1989.

Thompson will be returning for the second time to address an ICO graduating class. He was also the commencement speaker for the Class of 1980. Most recently, he was on the college's campus as the keynote speaker for the Clinic Dedication ceremony last June.

ICO Announces New Clinical Service

In keeping with its long standing commitment to the provision of quality care to its patients the Illinois College of Optometry has announced a cooperative effort between its patient care division, the Illinois Eye Institute, and the Department of Neurological Sciences of Rush Medical College and Rush-Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center.

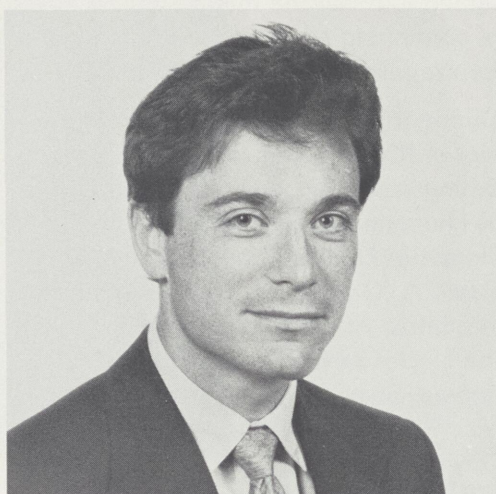

The resulting neuro-eye service will comprise one component of the Illinois Eye Institute's Center for Advanced Ophthalmic Care. The Center, under the direction of Dr. Leonard V. Messner, ICO Assistant Professor of Optometry, also incorporates vitreo-retinal and non-invasive diagnostic services.

Dr. Messner, in citing the broad range of benefits expected to accrue from this cooperative effort, noted that neurologists with various specialties including Alzheimer's disease, multiple sclerosis, stroke and seizure disorders will spend time at the Center providing not only direct patient care but participating in grand rounds and other student activities.

Dr. David Greenberg, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of ICO stated that "the College is especially pleased to be able to offer its patients convenient access to such an extraordinarily fine neurology service".

Dr. Rugerri Fariello, Chairman of the Department of Neurological Sciences, expressed his belief that the interaction between the two disciplines will be complementary and result in an enhanced quality of patient care. Dr. Fariello also expressed the hope that this cooperative effort would "develop into a formal model that may be followed by others".

Based upon the interdisciplinary nature of this innovative program the Center has received significant assistance from the Digilab Corporation of Cambridge, Mass. The support, valued at more than $100,000 is in the form of Digilab's complete line of non-invasive and electro-diagnostic instrumentation. Dr. Messner stated that this contribution not only enhances the Center's interaction with the neurologic group but its other aims (Eg. vitreo retinal) as well.

Dr. Leonard V. Messner, O.D.

While visiting ICO, Ram Rao, Division Manager of Digilab, stated that Digilab, as a leader in the development of diagnostic equipment for the health professions was pleased to support this particular program in that the uniqueness of the ICO/Rush endeavor provides not only for superb patient care but a training ground for two disciplines which should logically have many areas of mutual interest.

By Floyd D. Mizener, O.D. (Monroe '48)

The next publication of the "Rules of the Road" in Illinois will clarify the rule stating a driver will be excused from vision screening at any Motor Vehicle facility if he or she has had a professional examination and properly completed and signed vision specialist report. This ruling is of mutual benefit to the patient, motor vehicle administrators and doctors (visual specialists). The ruling has developed from cooperative dialogue that has been going on since 1982 between the Illinois Motor Vehicle Division's Professional Advisory Committee Chairman, Dr. Floyd Mizener, who was appointed by Secretary of State Jim Edgar. Other representatives on the committee are from the field of ophthalmology and optometry. Optometrists who have served on the committee are Elliot Politser, Richard Gelbuda, Marty Sikorski, Lawrence Vogel, Edgar Fox, William Brown and Derrald Taylor. Representatives from ophthalmology include Steve Visal, Joel Kaplan, Dan McLachlan and M. Richand.

The last meeting was hosted by the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago, June of this year. To date, there have been seven meetings since the Committee was formed.

The Motor Vehicle administrators requested that the eye professionals of Illinois take a stand when entering the patient's best acuity. The patient either passes or fails. When an eye professional lists 20/40 — it leaves the state to make the interpretation. The state feels that this decision should be a professional one. The same goes for 20/70 — a most critical finding for a driver.

The state would like to see a yes or a no, not the minus sign. This way the eye professional is eliminating a decision making problem.

It was further agreed that a disclaimer would be printed in the "Rules of the Road" defining the vision screening provided by the state employee is not a visual examination. This educational procedure is a very meaningful public

The Illinois Motor Vehicle Division's Professional Advisory Committee held a meeting on the ICO campus to discuss the new rule stating a driver will be excused from vision screening at any Illinois Motor Vehicle facility if he or she has had a professional vision examination and properly completed and signed vision specialist report.

Members of the committee that were present at the meeting were (clockwise from left): Floyd D. Mizener, O.D., Committee Chairman (MONROE '48); Edgar Fox, O.D. (CCO '55); William L. Brown, O.D. Ph.D., ICO Associate Professor of Optometry (ICO '73); Woodie Williams, Illinois Metro Field Services; Walter S. Yasko, O.D., ICO Professor of Optometry (NICO '48); Joyce Dinsmore, Deputy Director, Illinois Field Services Bureau/Driver Services Department; James L. Ovall, Sr., Staff Assistant, Illinois Downstate Field Services; Derrald G. Taylor, O.D., ICO Associate Professor of Optometry (ICO '68).

action to encourage better vision care. With this disclaimer the driver is not led to believe that the state has taken care of his or her vision and general eye health. The driver will understand that this is his/her own responsibility and not that of the state.

There are over eight million drivers in Illinois. Drivers license renewal periods vary between 3-5 years and many drivers' vision will change during this time, thus altering the driving code they had originally received. Recognizing this, it is recommended that the doctor update the driver's code as the change is spotted. To do this only requires the doctor to fill out the Vision Specialist Report indicating the change and either send it to Springfield or have the patient take the completed form to the Motor Vehicle Division Station when renewing his or her driver's license. The correction will then be made on the patient's drivers license.

New Transcript Quality Single-day CE courses offered at ICO

The Illinois College of Optometry is embarking upon a new venture in its Continuing Education offerings for 1989. For the first time, a number of the single-day CE courses will be offered with an accompanying examination for the benefit of those individuals who hold licenses in states which require "Transcript Quality" or "Certified" continuing education.

As an introductory measure, ICO is offering 13 (of its 14) single-session courses with an optional examination, available for an additional hour of credit. ICO's DPA and TPA courses have been, and will continue to be, offered only with a written examination.

Program participants will have the option of taking courses which include an examination either "Test", or "Nontest".

Additional information on all ICO Continuing Education programs may be obtained by telephone from the ICO Office of Continuing Education by calling: (312) 225-1700 extension 612.

Academy Approves AIDS Policy

Washington, DC—The American Academy of Optometry has approved an AIDS policy paper. This document contains recommendations for the provision of care to patients suffering from AIDS or who test HIV positive, plus educational information about the disease for patients and optometrists' staff.

Developed by the Academy's Public Health and Occupational Vision Section and approved by the Executive Council, the paper continues the work of the highly successful AIDS symposium at the 1987 Academy Annual Meeting. Its authors were Edwin Marhall, O.D., M.P.H., of the Indiana University School of Optometry, Bloomington, IN; John Potter, O.D., of VisionAmerica, Nashville, TN; John Whitener, O.D., M.P.H., (ICO '64) of the American Optometric Association staff, Alexandria, VA; and Roger Wilson, O.D., Director of Outreach Clinics for the New England College of Optometry, Boston, MA. The four spent three months of intense activity on the project.

The paper contains a number of guidelines for the prevention of transmission of HIV in an eye care setting. Included are the roles of handwashing, latex gloves, masks and other protective eyewear, and instrument and contact lens disinfection.

In addition to the clinical guidelines, the Academy paper encourages optometrists to:

1. Be sure to provide care for persons with AIDS or who are HIV-Positive;
2. Educate their staff on the proper care of AIDS and HIV-Positive patients;
3. Become knowledgeable about AIDS and involved in public education on this issue;
4. Conduct the necessary research to develop revised infection control protocols.

The full text, which includes extensive references in addition to thorough discussion, will be published in the Academy's American Journal of Optometry and Physiological Optics in the near future. Other dissemination within the profession is also planned.

The 3500-member American Academy of Optometry was founded to maintain and enhance excellence in the optometric practice, education and research. Each year in early December it conducts the foremost scientific and educational meeting in Optometry. Both an international organization and allied with the American Optometric Association, the Academy also recognizes demonstrated competence in contact lenses, binocular vision and perception, low vision, and public health by granting diplomate status in those fields.

ICO Alumni Directory Coming Soon!

Our Illinois College of Optometry Alumni Directory project is nearing completion and soon shipment of the directories will begin.

Help for HEALers with Student Loan Troubles

by Michael Henningburg

A small number of health professionals who default on their student loans is causing big trouble for a federal loan program that helps 1 in 5 optometry students pay for their education.

The program is the Health Education Assistance Loan Program, commonly known as HEAL. In 1988, it helped 1,115 optometry students—and 28,907 health professions students overall—finance their professional education.

HEAL originally was intended as a funding source of last resort, offering market rate loans to students who had exhausted all other sources of financial aid. Since its inception in 1979, however, HEAL has grown tremendously in size. The total value of HEAL loan principal and interest outstanding now approaches $2 billion, but this growth has been accompanied by substantial increases in loan defaults by former students.

In 1988, federal payments to private lenders to cover these defaults is expected to reach $35 million, compared to only $1.9 million in the first 4 years of the program. This growing default burden means that the future of the program may be in jeopardy.

HEAL loans are federally insured loans that provide money through nonfederal lenders to students in eligible health professions schools. Students pay market rates of interest and are required to begin repayment 9 months after they cease to be full-time students. Deferral of repayments is available to those who go on to approved internship or residency programs or to full-time service in the military or Peace Corps. The federal insurance is funded through an 8 percent premium charged to lenders and passed on to the borrower.

Optometry students may borrow up to $20,000 a year, with a lifetime maximum of $80,000, from eligible lenders such as banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations, pension funds, HEAL schools, state agencies and insurance companies.

The program is administered federally through the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) of the U.S. Public Health Service, and specifically through the Bureau of Health Professions' Division of Student Assistance.

To date, about 92 percent of all HEAL recipients, and 97 percent of optometry student recipients, are successfully repaying HEAL loans. But a minority—in optometry 3 percent of borrowers—have defaulted.

Default is not the only option for a student or graduate with repayment problems. A variety of sources of help is available, and the consequences of default can be serious.

First of all, if you default, your loan holder—generally a bank—must take you to court and obtain a judgment before HRSA will pay the lender's default claim from the Student Loan Insurance Fund. A judgment is likely to end up at the Department of Justice for collection, and subsequently may be referred to a collection agent. A practitioner's exclusion from Medicare reimbursement or a tax offset by the Internal Revenue Service also could result. A loan defaulter employed by the federal government could have his or her salary offset to pay the judgment. At the very least, one's credit rating will be seriously affected by the default.

If overall default rates remain high, schools with high default rates could face the possibility of being expelled from the HEAL program. A rulemaking proposal to set out criteria for the expulsion of schools with high default rates is being developed in HRSA. Such measures already have been introduced into other federal student loan programs.

These severe consequences are not inevitable. It is critical for a student contemplating a HEAL loan to become an informed consumer, and for a student or graduate facing payment problems to talk with his or her lenders as soon as possible.

One option for an individual with payment problems is forbearance. This is a suspension of payments for an individual who is having temporary payment problems, or temporary health or income problems affecting repayment. Up to 2 years' forbearance is available over the lifetime of a HEAL loan.

Secondly, HEAL lenders will work out graduated repayment schedules for individuals with repayment difficulties. These typically involve small monthly payments during early years when a practitioner's income is less, and substantially larger payments in later years.

For students who have educational loans in addition to HEAL, consolidation loans and combined payment plans are available. A consolidation loan enables a borrower to consolidate loans administered by Department of Education such as Federally Insured Student Loans, Guaranteed Student Loans, Perkins Loans and others. Health professions student loans also may be included in a consolidation. While a consolidation loan has drawbacks, it does permit a greater choice of payment terms, lower monthly payments over an extended period and a single payment each month.

Under a combined payment plan, a borrower may combine various HEAL loans, or a combination of HEAL loans and a consolidation loan. A combined payment plan has advantages and disadvantages similar to those of a loan consolidation.

To take advantage of these options, talk with your lenders when you first begin to face problems. Loan holders have a real stake in keeping good payers,

History Alert

"Your Class is a part of the History of the Illinois College of Optometry"

The history of the Illinois College of Optometry (ICO) dates back to 1872—long before the term "optometry" came into use. ICO and its predecessor institutions, Needles, Monroe, NICO and CCO can boast a rich history of events and individuals.

The Board of Trustees and the Alumni Association have begun efforts to put into print the "History of the Illinois College of Optometry".

To effectively accomplish this task we need the assistance of all alumni and friends. Pictures, correspondence, news items, and anecdotes which relate to your class and years as a student will add immeasurable to the proposed book.

Send all of the material you believe could be of interest to: The Illinois College of Optometry History Project, c/o The Alumni Office, 3241 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60616. All material must be marked with your name and, if requested, photographs will be duplicated and the original returned to you.

Gary A. Lesher, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Pharmacology and Toxicology, poses with his new book, "A Quick Reference to the Top Prescription Drugs," in the ICO book store.

This manual is a convenient reference to the most frequently prescribed drugs in the U.S. Included in each description are both the drug's brand and generic name, its pharmacologic class, its mechanism of action and the drug's ocular side effects and toxicities. The book, which lists 200 drugs, can be ordered through the book store. The cost is $10.95 ($7.95 plus shipping and handling). To order, send a check or money order to the ICO Book store, 3241 S. Michigan, Chicago, Illinois 60616.

because they can collect more interest in the long run. Similarly, HRSA has a stake in such agreements, because they reduce the size of its default payments. And the schools have a stake, because reduced defaults will keep the program healthy so that future students will have the option of using HEAL.

Ultimately, there is no substitute for becoming an informed consumer when it comes to repaying a HEAL loan. For the practitioners with HEAL loans, it means consulting with one's lender when payment problems arise in order to avoid more serious problems later. It also means insisting on clear explanations of the advantages, disadvantages and obligations of HEAL loans. Practitioners with HEAL loans should consult their lenders. And we in HRSA are available to point you in the right direction if you need help.

Michael Heningburg is Director of the Division of Student Assistance in the Health Resources and Services Administration's Bureau of Health Professions. The Division administers the HEAL program.

AOA Adopts New Definition of Optometrist

St. Louis, MO—The American Optometric Association Board of Trustees adopted an official definition of an optometrist during its March meeting. The definition is:

Doctors of optometry are primary health care providers who diagnose, manage and treat conditions and diseases of the human eye and visual system as regulated by state law.

The Association is urging affiliated associations and individual members to use this definition in correspondence, articles and publications.

Mecklenburg Leaving ICO Post

John R. Mecklenburg, Director of Institutional Advancement at ICO since March of 1987, announced this month that he will be leaving the College, following Commencement in May.

Mecklenburg, who headed the Institutional Advancement Office consisting of the Alumni, Public Relations and Development operations, is leaving the College to pursue other opportunities.

"I believe that a great deal has been accomplished during the past two-and-a-half years and I leave the College with the best wishes for its future and continued success," Mecklenburg said in announcing his resignation.

Just for Fun!!!

Here's an Optocrostic Puzzle—no, it's not stolen from The New York Times—it was created by one of ICO's staff members (can you guess who?). Just to peak your interest in solving this, we've added a special bonus. The first FIVE people to send us the correct solution will be awarded an ICO Alumni sweat-shirt provided by Nancy Kroeger, manager of the ICO Bookstore.

The diagram itself is a famous quotation written out as it appears. To find the quotation, you begin by guessing the clue words. Write each letter from each word into the diagram in the correct spot which is indicated by the number under each letter.

When you have solved the puzzle and all your words are written out on both the diagram and next to each clue, you will be able to guess the quote, the author and the title of the work from where the quote comes. (The author and the title from where the quote is from can be found by using the first letter of each of the clue words.)

So, put your thinking cap on and good luck! Send in your answers to: ICO Public Relations Office, 3241 S. Michigan, Chicago, IL 60616.

ICO Twin Brother Graduates Publish Book

Dr. Dominick Maino and his twin brother, Dr. Joseph Maino, along with Dr. David Davidson have recently published, Computer Applications in Optometry. Drs. Maino and Maino are both 1978 graduates of ICO. Dr. Dominick Maino is an Associate Professor, Department of Pediatrics & Binocular Vision, Illinois Eye Institute, ICO. His brother, Dr. Joseph Maino is the Assistant Chief of Optometry, Kansas City Veteran's Administration Medical Center. The third author of this book, Dr. Davidson is the Associate Dean, School of Optometry, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

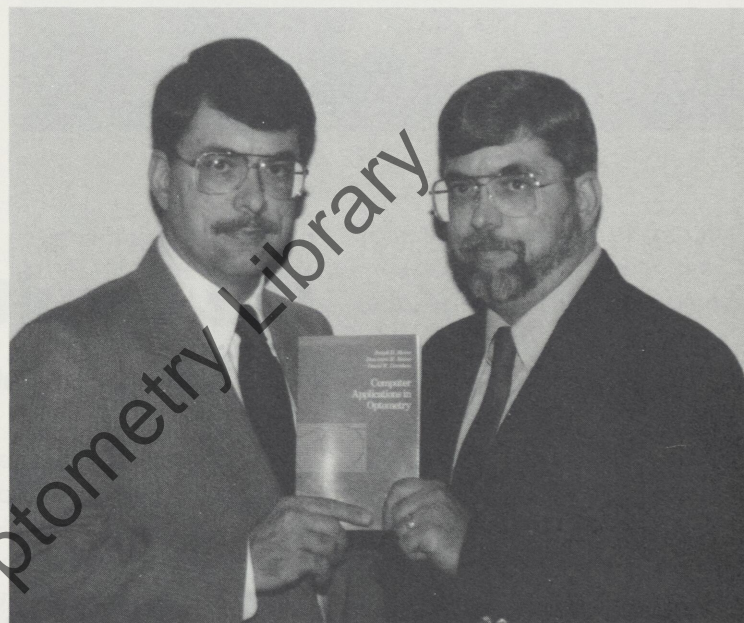

According to Dr. Dominick Maino, this book is the first text available to optometrists that discusses the use of computers in all aspects of optometry, ranging from practice management to binocular vision to professional marketing. In addition, it is the first book written by an ICO faculty member to be published by a major publishing company in more than twenty years.

Briefly, this text examines current office hardware and software systems and presents various computer concepts and terminology to help familiarize the practitioner. Following this introduction, it then covers numerous computer applications to ophthalmic patient care and business, focusing on such specialty areas as low vision and pediatrics.

His book, Computer Applications in Optometry has been quite successful since its publication in August. Dr. Dominick Maino stated that by the end of August, more than 300 copies of this specialized text had been sold. In addition, both Maino brothers as well as Dr. Davidson have written a number of articles and given presentations on this new text. Some of these articles include "Keeping Your Computer System Safe and Secure," "Fragile X Syndrome," and a future article on computers for AOA. Also, all three authors will present a multi-hour work shop on computer use for the Heart of America Contact Lens Society.

Dr. Dominick Maino lives with his wife, Sylvia and their two children, Dominick III and Christina in Chicago, Illinois. He is presently practicing in Harwood Heights, Illinois with Dr. Ronald Krefnan. His twin brother, Dr. Joseph Maino is living in Kansas City, Missouri. These identical twin brothers prove not only to be similar in genetic traits but career paths as well.

Dr. Dominick Maino has generously donated a copy of his text to the ICO library. This text is also available in the ICO bookstore.

ICO Faculty Member Will Not Be Forgotten

The Illinois College of Optometry regrets to announce the death of beloved ICO faculty member, Dr. E.R. Tennant. After a long period of illness, Dr. Tennant passed away in July 1989.

Dr. Tennant, a physician and optometrist was a native of Vienna, Austria. He came to the United States after his escape from Vienna during the Nazi takeover in Austria. Once in the United States, he decided to study optometry. He attended Monroe College of Optometry, one of ICO's predecessors and obtained his doctorate. In addition to studying at Monroe, Dr. Tennant also instructed at ICO for 40 years, where he taught geometrical and physical optics, and at one time was Director of Clinics. Dr. Tennant was a very highly respected optometrist and professor.

In 1982, he retired from teaching so that he could devote more time to his practice, along with some leisure travel with his wife, Shelby. During that year, he was the first recipient of the ICO Trustee/Faculty Award for meritorious service. Although Dr. Tennant had retired from ICO, he still remained in contact with the College. He helped in fund raising for ICO and also served as a "counselor emeritus."

The Illinois College of Optometry would like to extend special condolences to the Tennant family. This dear alumnus and professor will be missed.

MEMORIES:

146th Commencement Ceremony

The final day had arrived as the Illinois College of Optometry celebrated its 146th Convocation, May 21, 1989. For many students, it was hard to believe that four years of study at ICO had come to a close. This long awaited day was filled with a mixture of emotions that took some students by surprise. Happiness, excitement, and relief were emotions that could be felt throughout. Yet, a sadness seemed to loom which reminded students that this was also a time of farewells and partings with special friends. Promises between friends to keep in touch were made, as students realized that they would soon be starting a new part of their lives.

The ceremony for this class of 141 graduates took place at 2:30 p.m. at the Rockefeller Chapel on the campus of the University of Chicago, 59th Street and Woodlawn Avenue.

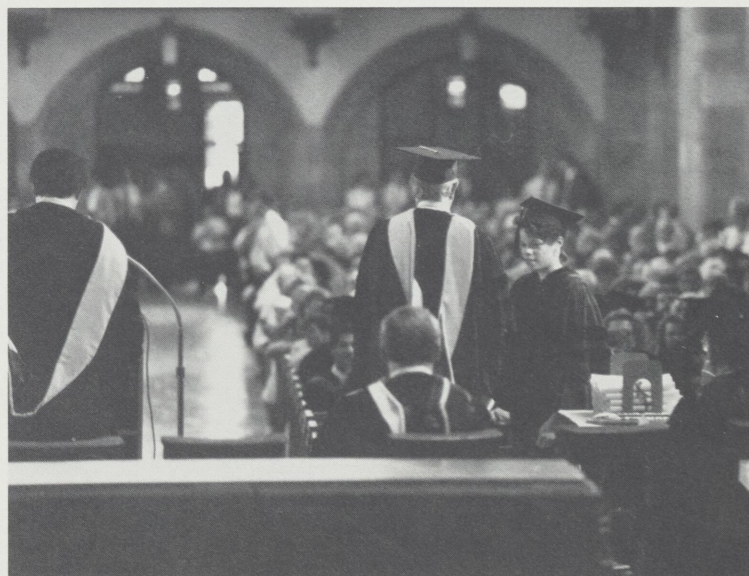

The Honorable James R. Thompson, Governor of the State of Illinois joined the ceremony as speaker, along with the families and friends of the graduates who gathered together for this memorable event.

Immediately following the ceremony graduates and their guests were invited to a reception held at the South Shore Club, formerly the South Shore Country Club, on Chicago's South Shore Drive.

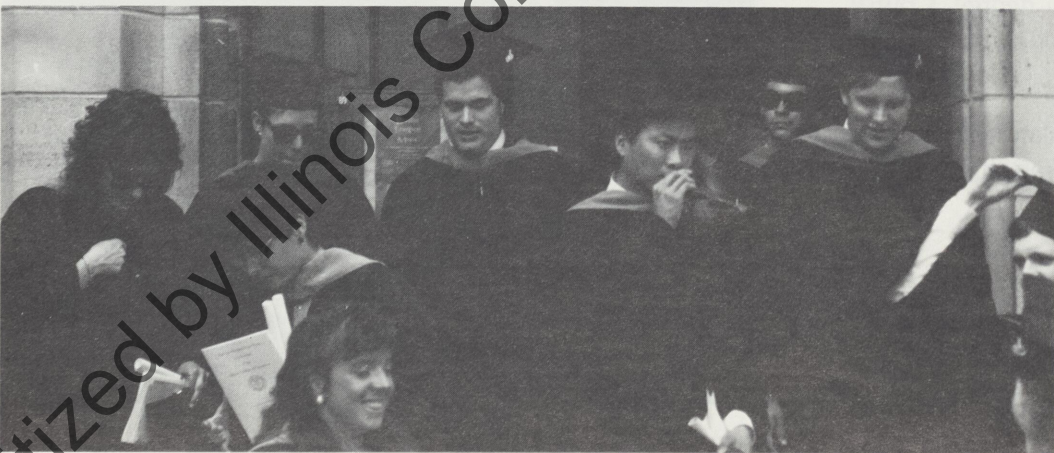

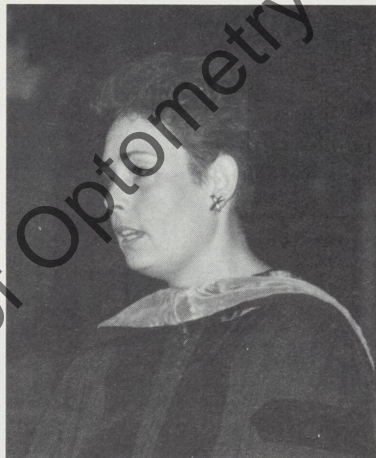

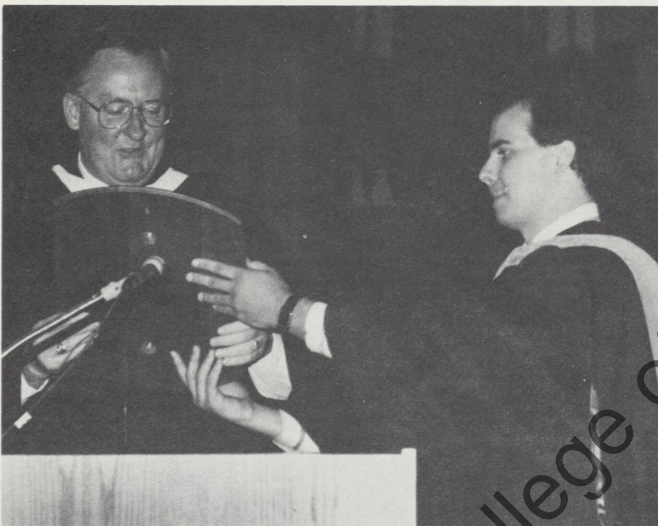

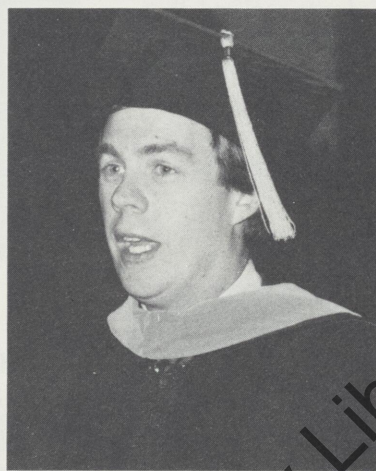

These ICO graduates, composed of 96 males and 45 females, representing two foreign countries and 21 states, completed the post-graduate professional four-year program leading to the Doctor of Optometry (O.D.) degree. Course work included ocular disease, pharmacology, neuroanatomy, clinical medicine, and physical diagnosis.

The Alumni Office would like to congratulate all 1989 graduates and wishes you the best of luck in the years to come!

1989 ICO REUNION WEEKEND

Old friends, classmates, memories, exchanging stories, a few laughs . . . were all a part of the 1989 ICO Reunion, October 13-15, 1989. Classmates from 1939 to 1984 came together over this nostalgic weekend to meet with friends, take further continuing education courses, and visit their alma mater.

The reunion began on Friday morning with donuts and coffee in the Alumni Relations Office. This provided alumni with an opportunity to visit with friends as well as meet some of the ICO student body. Following this little "power breakfast," Continuing Education courses were offered throughout the day. In addition, an exhibit fair was held during the morning and afternoon for interested alumni and students. Other activities included individual class meetings which gave classmates time to see and catch up on news about each other.

As Friday evening rolled around, alumni and guests were invited to the Student/Alumni Courtyard Reception. Beer, wine, soda and snacks were available, along with numerous door prizes. Once again, alumni and students had the chance to get to know one another in an informal setting.

Saturday morning, bright and early, Continuing Education courses began and ran through the afternoon, with the Exhibit Fair again open to alumni. At noon, the Chuck Wagon Bar-B-Que was set up for alumni and guests. Beautiful weather permitted the use of the Courtyard, providing a last taste of Indian Summer. Tours of the College were available all day Saturday to any alumni who wished to observe the new changes in the College. For some alumni, this was a walk down "Memory Lane," while for others it was an entirely new view. Certainly, much has changed since 1939!

Saturday night festivities included dining, dancing, and reminiscing at the Chicago Marriott Hotel. An entree of Chicken Wellington, Barron of Beef, or White Fish made for a highly satisfying meal. The Bill Bozin Orchestra provided an evening filled with delightful "Big Band" music and dancing. A number of alumni received awards, and some very humorous stories were told by several classmates. All in all, it was a wonderful evening!

The 1989 Reunion Weekend came to a close on Sunday. A few remaining CE courses were offered, but most alumni were getting ready for departure. Farewells, exchanges of addresses, and some parting tears brought this eventful weekend to an end.

Dear Alumni,

It was a great weekend for those of us who attended the '89 ICO Reunion. The college is looking great and there is a lot to be proud of: New clinical facilities, a teaching staff that is second to none, a well-stocked library, and overall building improvements that President Boyd Banwell has worked so hard to improve and expand.

The 1990 ICO Reunion will take place October 4-7, 1990 in Chicago. Make plans now to be there to visit with old friends and make new ones. You can also participate in continuing education of transcript quality at the college.

After 30 years of practice, I've observed and participated in quite a few changes in optometry. Primary eye care is now being provided by optometrists. It won't be long before optometry will be THE primary eye care provider throughout this nation. The expansion of the scope of the profession is due to the diligent work of the members of our profession and our educational institutions.

The Illinois College of Optometry has been most prominent among the institutions which have produced leaders in the profession; it will continue to groom the future leaders of optometry. Most institutions with a tradition of excellence need help to maintain this achievement. I hope that you will join me in assuring that the Illinois College of Optometry continues to provide the best education possible for the future leaders of optometry.

One of the most poignant observations I made during the closing banquet was that everyone else is looking more mature. My most pleasant task as your ICO Alumni President was to present the Alumni of the Year Award to Dr. James Butler, Chairman of the ICO Alumni Association of Iowa, my classmate of 1959. Strange—he doesn't look older, just wider. But Jim stands very tall when measured in terms of his contributions to his community and optometry.

Optometry has provided me a joyful and rewarding life, and being a contributing member of the ICO Alumni Association allows me to participate in the education and future of this humanistic profession. Join me today with your tax deductible contribution to the ICO Alumni Association.

The Alumni Council is looking for more volunteers to be class representatives. If you would like to volunteer, please contact the Alumni Council Representative from your region. We would be most pleased to hear from you. Getting involved is a lot of fun and a way to maintain and re-establish communications with your classmates.

Fraternally yours,

Tony Q. Chan, Jr.

Class of '59 Unites in Germany

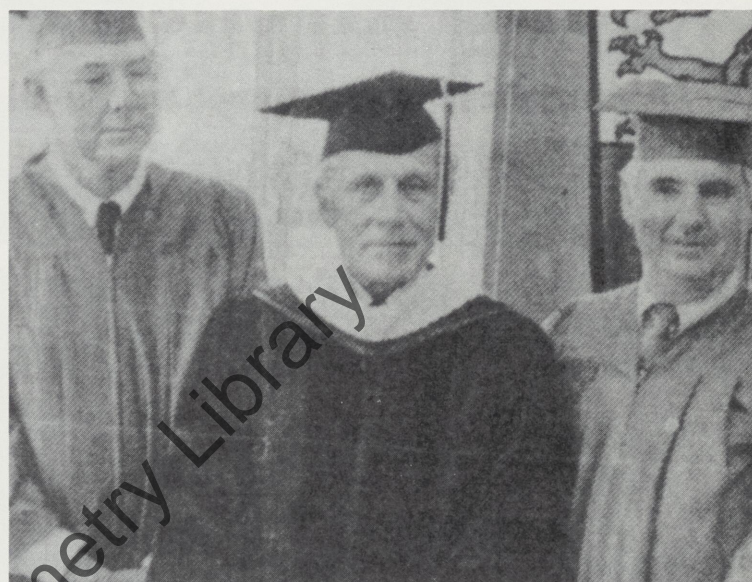

Members of the Class of 1959 celebrated their 30th reunion in a unique manner, as guests of classmate Dr. Wilhelm Pohl in Pfarrkirchen, Germany! Dr. Pohl, a German by birth, had come to the United States in 1955 to attend ICO. After graduation, Dr. Pohl returned to Germany, and established a practice in Munich. In the Spring of this year he extended an invitation to his graduating class to come to Germany in June, an invitation that was accepted by thirteen classmates including ICO President Dr. Boyd Banwell.

The Reunion actually became quite an occasion for the entire city of Pfarrkirchen. The City Hall was draped with the American flag, and a ceremonial procession was led through town by the Mayor, the reunion classmates, and the Hohentanner Band. The day's activities culminated in a large reception complete with German beer (personally tapped by the Mayor) and traditional Bavarian hospitality.

At the reception the Mayor, Dr. Herbert Kempfler, speaking in English and German, congratulated Dr. Pohl on his accomplishments, adding that it was high praise to Dr. Pohl that his classmates had travelled all the way to Pfarrkirchen for the occasion. Dr. Pohl followed, expressing his admiration for the United States, and his gratitude for having received a fine education at ICO. He commented on how difficult it was to establish a practice in Europe, where Optometry is just beginning to be accepted.

Needless-to-say, this particular reunion will not soon be forgotten by the Class of 1959.

National Board Develops New Clinical Skills Examination

This past summer, the National Board announced the development of a new clinical examination to be used for state board tests. For the first time, under subcontract to the International Association of Boards of Examiners in Optometry (IAB), the National Board administered and scored this clinical examination for the Pennsylvania Board of Optometrical Examiners.

The Pennsylvania "practical" included 16 examination procedures which were divided among 5 clinical stations. A system of rotating groups of 20 through the stations at 20-minute intervals was used. This three day practical was divided into 6 sessions that were 3 hours long. A total of 113 candidates took the exam. Twenty-nine practitioners from Pennsylvania and the Delaware Valley served as clinical examiners.

A five-member committee was responsible for the "oversight" of this exam, chaired by Dr. Morris Applebaum, a professor at Southern California and a member of the California State Board. Other members included, Drs. William Dell, Murray Fingeret, David Heath, and ICO faculty member and Chairman of the Department of Clinical Education, Dr. Dennis Siemsen.

Scoring for the examination was done by computer. Exam performance as a whole suggested a mean score of 93.8%, while individual scores ranged from 66.2% to 98.4%. Each candidate received a report from the examination.

The National Board will administer the Pennsylvania Clinical Skills Examination for the IAB once again in January, 1990.

One Man's Tribute to Dr. E.R. Tennant 1914-1989

By: Neil Hodur, O.D.

It was 1976. I was sitting at my desk at 7:15 a.m., doing paper work. As I was collecting my thoughts in the silence, a voice came from the doorway. "What are you doing here at this hour of the morning?" It was the voice of Dr. E. Richard Tennant. For the first, but thankfully not the last time in my life I was confronted with the person that I, among many others, considered the best. My response was simple; "To get some work done before the day begins." Dr. Tennant replied: "The morning is the most glorious part of the day, and it's important to eat a good breakfast to prepare for the day." The conversation came easily. I couldn't believe that I was conversing with the professor whom I admired and respected more than anyone. Dr. Tennant then asked me some questions concerning a particularly difficult contact lens patient of his. I responded to the best of my ability and he remarked: "I never thought of that." I was really pleased with myself. He then invited me for a cup of coffee and suddenly, one of my most cherished professional relationships had begun. It remained that way until Dr. Tennant left the college. Indeed, everyday we tried to set aside a few minutes to talk or simply say hello.

This was Dr. Tennant's manner. He had the rare ability to put anyone no matter how lowly, at ease in a discussion. There were no walls, no barriers to this concerned and dedicated gentleman. Anyone involved in a conversation with him was considered an equal, with the goals of human interest, intellect and professionalism being the common theme.

Dr. E. Richard Tennant began his professional optometric training in 1943 at the Monroe College of Optometry. In 1945, he began his career teaching at Monroe.

As a native of Vienna, Austria, Dr. Tennant was forced from his native land before the outbreak of World War II. He traveled "underground" and probably survived because of his ability to frame and solve problems. It was this special appreciation for logic and mathematics that helped him through the ordeal of his dangerous travel, first to England, and then to the United States. I truly believe that that experience molded him into something special. The genuine concern he had for others and his mental stamina—were characteristic of someone who had known adversity but had the power to rise above it with love for his fellow man.

For 37 years, Dr. Tennant, along with his trusty meter stick, taught optics to an estimated 25,000 students. Every day was a challenge worth conquering in the mind of Dr. Tennant. He truly enjoyed teaching, and those fortunate enough to have had him as their instructor thoroughly enjoyed him. The lessons were rigorous, humorous, enlightening, at times emotional, and always, fresh, crisp, and thought provoking. Even the topic of equivalence became real and important. The combination of application and professionalism were always woven into the most brilliant presentation that optometry will ever know.

In those years, Dr. Tennant taught Ophthalmic Dispensing, Aphakia and Binocular Refraction as well as laboratories in Optics, Ophthalmic Optics, Binocular and Dispensing. In addition, he was in charge of clinics for 15 years along with various committee duties. Some of these duties include the chairmanship of a Dean's Search, Presidential Search, Academic Advancement and Fellowship and Awards committees. He also served on the Faculty Relations and the Faculty Organization Committees. It is a wonder that he had any time to devote to his own private practice, but he did.

Dr. Tennant cherished his time in private practice. This was his avenue to practice what he preached. He spent time with each patient and deeply cared for his patient's needs, not only visual, but the patient as a whole. He told me many times that it was truly amazing what you can learn from each and every patient. Dr. Tennant always kept this philosophy.

After those many years of college service, he decided to leave the college in order to pursue his private practice and to travel with his lovely wife Shelby. He said that he would miss teaching, but also said: "I think it is a good move to leave. I have taught for a long time and I want to walk out on my own two feet." In 1982, he became the first recipient of the Trustee/Faculty Award, a much deserved award that he cherished.

Even after leaving ICO, he continued his involvement with the college in many ways. He participated in raising funds for the clinic and made sure that those who remained in education had someone to confide in, as well as someone to consult. Throughout this time, he and Shelby took advantage of the opportunity to travel, and returned to Europe. On one trip, he entered Austria once more and visited the neighborhood where he grew up. Visiting his homeland was something he had longed to do for many years.

Dr. and Mrs. Tennant had two sons, James and Michael. In 1984 they

Family Unites to Support B.R.C.

Throughout childhood, many of us dreamed of what we wanted to become; lawyers, doctors, firemen, teachers, artists, etc. Some of us knew exactly what we wanted to do while others were not quite sure. Some of us even chose to follow in our parents' footsteps, pursuing their same career paths. In the case of the Peck family, this holds very true.

Dr. Glen Peck and Dr. Martha Peck, both graduates of the Illinois College of Optometry, married and had a son, Larry who also chose to pursue optometry. He studied and received his O.D. degree at the Southern College of Optometry and now practices with his parents in Fort Madison, Iowa.

As alumni of ICO, both Dr. Glen Peck and Dr. Martha Peck have been very generous in their contributions to the College. Both husband and wife are Bond Retirement Campaign members, each having given $3,000 to ICO. Once again, Larry has followed in his parents' footsteps and recently donated $3,000 to become a B.R.C. member, even though he graduated from a different school!

By making such contributions, this family recognizes ICO as an institution with the potential to help establish optometry as the primary health care provider in eye care throughout the world. This unique family of optometrists has displayed magnanimous efforts in its support of ICO. More importantly, the Peck family has shown us how to follow our dreams.

became grandparents for the first time; Noah was born to James and his wife Robin. This was one of Dr. Tennant's proudest moments, next to the 1976 graduation of his oldest son Michael as a Doctor of Optometry.

Dr. E. Richard Tennant, the quintessential teacher, the consummate individual, was definitely a most respected teacher. As I have said before, he was one of the most beloved and esteemed educators ever to grace a classroom. Surely his kind only comes this way but once. In closing, I would like to use the words that Dr. Tennant used as he closed so many lectures: "And now, my friends, you may all go home, or I will tell your mother."

Dr. Tennant became ill in 1987 and in 1989 he finally succumbed to the illness. A lifetime, and more importantly his life's work will be carried on by those who shared the classroom experience with him, meaning both students and his colleagues. It is now up to those he taught to carry on a very special gift presented in a most elegant way, to care for others and love thy fellow man.

Annual Student Phonathon Rings With Success

ANNUAL STUDENT PHONATHON . . . Have a familiar ring? That's right, during the evenings of October 23-26 and October 30-November 2, you may have received a call from one of many ICO students participating in this fund raiser event.

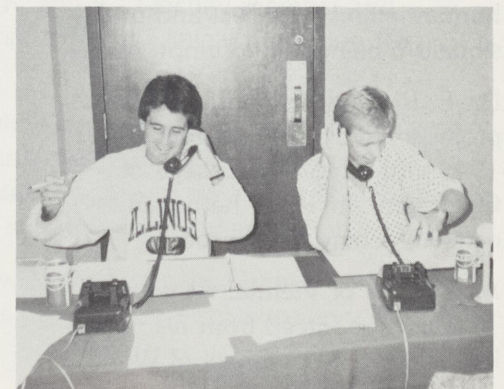

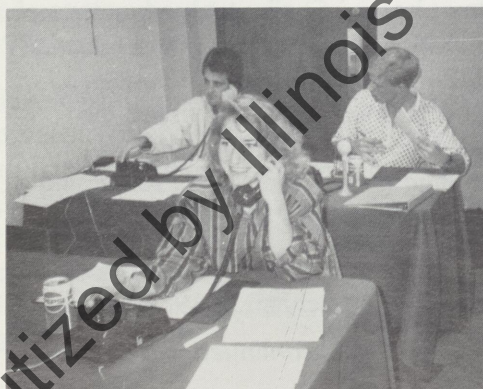

The purpose of the phonathon was to provide students with the opportunity to earn money for their organizations as well as for ICO. In fact, participating students found this to be a most profitable fund raiser, as they received numerous generous contributions. Student organization participants included: Beta Sigma Kappa Honorary Society, National Optometric Association, Michigan Club, Omega Delta, Sports Vision, Student Volunteers in Optometry Services to Humanity, New York Club, Spouses of Optometry Students, Year Book, Christian Fellowship, Contact Lens Society, 1st Year Class, 2nd Year Class, 3rd Year Class, and 4th Year Class.

Upon arriving at the designated "phonathon room," students were first shown a video with instructions and other necessary information about making calls. Next, the students were seated in the phone area and given folders with additional information regarding calls, pledge outlines, and the sign-up process. The basic procedure was explained to students and questions were answered. After this small orientation, students began making their calls.

The sound of horns (a horn was beeped each time a pledge was made), the murmur of voices, and pizza breaks were all a part of the phonathon scene. Overall, the phonathon was very successful. The grand total for the 1989 phonathon was $41,457, while the 1988 total was $40,070.

The Illinois College of Optometry would like to extend a thank you to all of its alumni for their support. We appreciate your time as well as your generosity!

One Year Brings Big Changes In Advancement Office

1989 saw major changes take place in the Office of Institutional Advancement, beginning with the departure of former Director John Mecklenberg (new position) and Assistant Director Beth Wilkin (maternity). New Director Stephen L. Lamb, who joined the College in late June, brings with him experience as a former Executive Director of the Illinois Optometric Association. Lamb was also a state board member, and was named Layperson of the Year by the IOA in 1987. He is widely known in Optometry across the U.S. His duties include alumni affairs, public relations, continuing education (in cooperation with the Dean's Office), and development.

Mrs. Wilkin has been replaced by Ms. Kirsten Lindstrom, a native of the upper Peninsula of Michigan, and a graduate of Michigan State. Ms. Lindstrom has had extensive experience in meeting planning and administration. Her duties currently include special planning and coordination of alumni affairs. Already, in her brief time at the College she has coordinated two major events, the 1989 Reunion and the Phonathon.

Ms. Angie O'Connell, a recent graduate of Marquette University, will be working on such diverse projects as producing all I.A. Office publications (including this one), compiling a history of ICO, and doing background research on major potential donors such as foundations, corporations, etc.

Ms. Barbara Buglio will continue her important role as coordinator of the Continuing Education program. Barb, who has been at ICO some 13 years, has an almost encyclopedic knowledge of ICO's graduates, and, with her excellent records, has bailed a good number of them out at license renewal time! She is ably assisted by third year student Kreg Harper, an Iowa native.

Last but certainly not least is I.A. Office Secretary Joyce Swearingen. Joyce, with her unfailingly cheery voice and disposition, makes it a pleasure to call or visit the I.A. Office.

While each of these individuals has administrative duties, they all understand that they are at ICO primarily to be of service to ICO graduates and students, past, present, and future—and each of them takes this goal very seriously!

1989 Annual Report

The Illinois College of Optometry is pleased to recognize those individuals, corporations, foundations and trusts which have so generously supported the institution during the 1989 fiscal year.

Following is a listing of those donors to the College who made gifts between the dates of July 1, 1988, and June 30, 1989. Gifts received on July 1, 1989, or later will be included in the 1990 President's Annual Report.

The donor listings have been divided into the following categories: alumni (by year of graduation); non-alumni friends; corporations; foundations; estates & trusts; and gifts-in-kind. Alumni class listings also include the percentage of living class members who contributed to the College during the 1989 fiscal year.

Within each class year, donors are listed by level of total giving for the year. President's Inner Circle members include those individuals or couples who have given a total of $1,000 during the fiscal year. Founders level contributors have given at least $500 during the fiscal year. Century Club level contributors have given at least $100 during the fiscal year. Member level contributors have given at least $50 during the fiscal year. Contributor level donors have given under $50 during the fiscal year.

The Illinois College of Optometry Office of Institutional Advancement has made every effort to carefully compile this list of donors from the available information at the College. In the event that your name has been omitted from this list, please contact us immediately at (312) 225-1700, Ext. 614.

William S. Gilbert: Iolanthe

I wouldn't say a word that could be reckoned as injurious, But to find a mother younger than her son is very curious, And that's the kind of mother that is usually spurious. Taradiddle, Tarradiddle, Tol-lol-lay!

Congratulations to our five winners who were the first five to send in the puzzle solved correctly. Those five were:

Eve Berland, wife of Alvin A. Berland, O.D., Toledo, OH. (NICO '49)

Donna A. Higgins, O.D., Prairie Du Chien, WI (ICO '80)

Michael J. Wojciak, O.D., La Grange, IL (ICO '46)

Robert C. Simmons, O.D., Clinton, IA (NICO '49)

Thomas Cedarstaff, O.D., Chesterton, IN (ICO '80)

So, to all those who were not successful in either solving the puzzle or in getting it to us fast enough, here's another to try your skill on! Good Luck!

The rules are the same as last time:

The diagram itself is a famous quotation written out as the quotation appears in the puzzle. To find the quotation, you begin by guessing the clue words. Write each letter from each word into the diagram in the correct spot which is indicated by the number under each letter.

When you have solved the puzzle and all your words are written out on both the diagram and next to each clue, you will be able to guess the quote, the author and the title of the work from where the quote comes. (The author and the title from where the quote is from can be found by using the first letter of each of the clue words.)

Please include the author and the title of the piece from where the quote comes.

Please send your answers to the Public Relations Office, ICO, 3241 S. Michigan, Chicago, IL 60616. The first five winners this time will receive ICO coffee mugs, courtesy of Nancy Kroeger, ICO Bookstore Manager.
